

NAME: _____

Dear Diary,

We learn about Layla through her diary entries. This is called a story in the first person. We don't know what anyone else thinks. We can only know what Layla tells us. Is this a good way to tell a story?

Now, It's Your Turn...

Write a scene from another character's point of view. For example, how does Ally feel when Layla solves the last clue?

Write a diary entry of your day. Will you tell your diary everything that happened?
